PROFILE

Hello! I am a professional in the Digital Media industry, primarily video production and editing. I recently moved to the Los Angeles area in search of greater career opportunities.

I have held many positions in the field of digital media and video production in freelance and internship capacities. My many job titles since a young age have led me to develop a strong work ethic as an employee, and later as a trainer, supervisor, and project manager; sometimes balancing multiple jobs at once.

Despite my young age, my vast amount of experience speaks toward my drive and professional goals.
